

WEDDINGS

JENNIFER MARIE IMBRO JOHN SCOTT CROSBY

Jennifer and John Crosby

St. Edward Catholic Church was the setting at 6 p.m. Saturday, April 18, for the marriage of Jennifer Marie Imbro and John Scott Crosby. Officiating were Monsignor Richard Oswald and the Rev. John Oswald of St. Edward and Monsignor Francis Malone of Christ the King Catholic Church.

Kristi and Ray Imbro, 589 Valley Club Circle, are the parents of the bride. She is the granddaughter of Raymond Imbro of Vero Beach, Fla., the late Jean and Robert Powell and the late Alice C. Imbro, all of Baldwin, N.Y.

The groom is the son of Amanda and Scott Crosby, 808 Vinson St. His grandparents are Evalyn and the late David Wren and Helen and the late John Crosby, all of Little Rock.

On each side of the altar were large arrangements of peonies, garden roses, ranunculus and dahlias in shades of fuchsia, orange and pink. Kathi Ann Beiter, aunt of the bride, served as cantor during Mass and sang the hymn "You Are Mine." Vincent Carrubba sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory Alencon lace gown with a chapel train. The strapless bodice had a sweetheart neckline and a low V-back. Her Edwardian-style bouquet was filled with peonies, garden roses and dahlias in shades of fuchsia, accented with orange ranunculus.

Lucy Dehner of Little Rock was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Christen Sellier of Raleigh, N.C.; Fatima Orozco of Washington; and Samantha Coker, Kate Erwin and Sydney Crosby, sister of the groom, all of Little Rock. They wore black douppioni floor-length gowns with high necklines and shirred skirts and carried bouquets of peonies, roses and dahlias.

Best man was Andrew Ferguson of Little Rock. Groomsmen were Solomon Kitterman, Cameron Fuller, Casey Wyatt and Daniel Imbro, brother of the bride, all of Little Rock, and Gregory Scherer of Fayetteville.

A reception at Pleasant Valley Country Club followed the ceremony. Guest tables were covered in charcoal linens and held silver candelabra and arrangements of roses, peonies and dahlias. The tented patio was decorated with a floral chandelier.

The bride has bachelor's degrees in economics and business and in international relations and global studies from Hendrix College in Conway. She is a vice president for institutional equity sales at Stephens Inc.

The groom graduated from the University of Central Arkansas in Conway with a bachelor's degree in political science. He is a driver recruiter/seller at Maverick Transportation LLC.

The couple will make their home in Little Rock after a honeymoon in Maui, Hawaii.
