KATHRYN WYNN TULL SAMUEL KAUFFMAN

Kathryn and Samuel Kauffman dance their first dance together as husband and wife.

The courtyard of the Arkansas Arts Center was the setting at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, May 7, for the marriage of Kathryn Wynn Tull and Samuel Kauffman. Officiating were Rabbi Barry Block assisted by the Rev. Adam Kirby and Rabbi Gene Levy.

Parents of the bride are Sue Tull and Martha and John E. Tull III, all of Little Rock. Her grandparents are Mary and the late John E. Tull Jr. of Lonoke and Patricia and Jack Overholt of Jekyll Island, Ga.

Rebecca and Dr. Alan Kauffman of Little Rock are the parents of the groom. He is the grandson of Betty and the late O.T. Jones of Little Rock and the late Phyllis and Zayde Louis Kauffman.

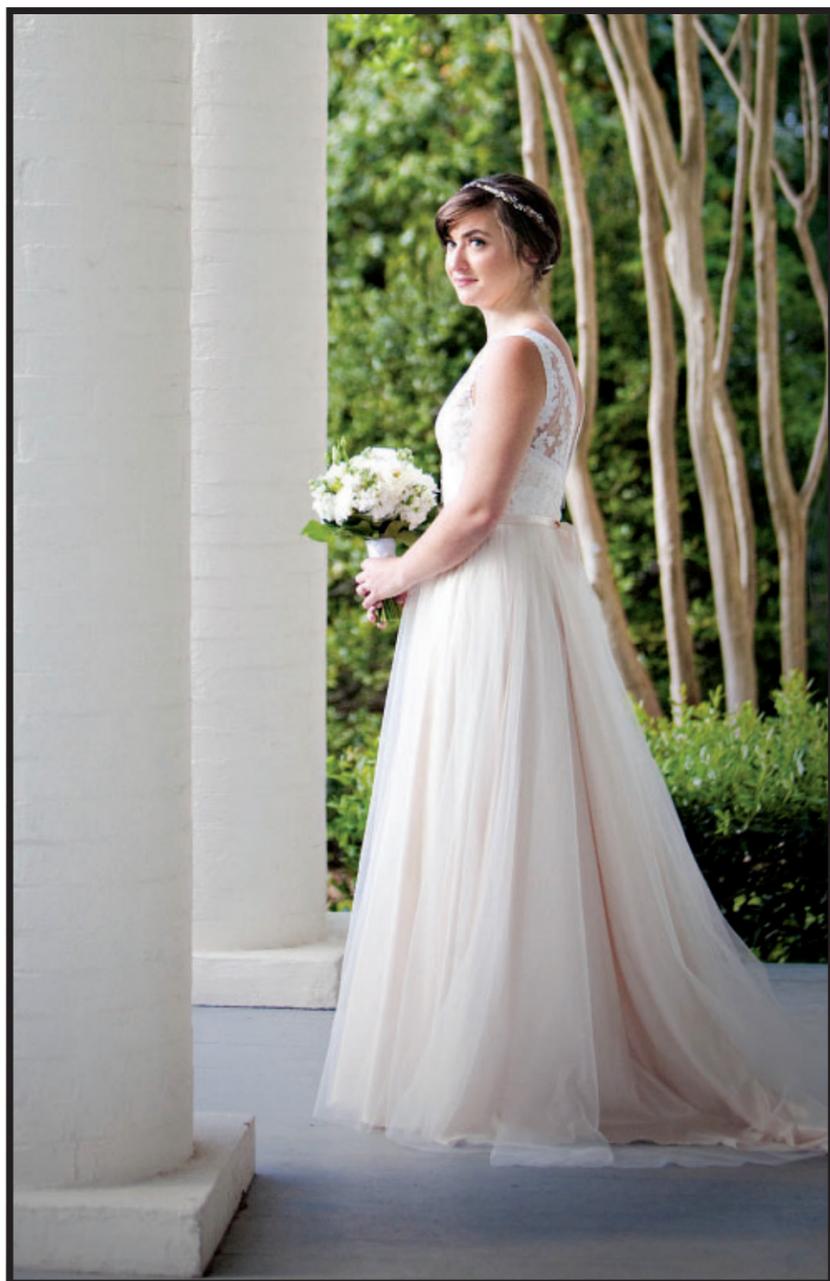

Vows were exchanged in front of a Chuppah decorated with larkspur, hydrangeas and springeri and plumosa ferns.

The bride, who walked down the aisle with her father, wore a sleeveless ivory gown. The bodice of embroidered Italian cotton had a V-neckline and V-back. The tulle skirt was lined in soft blush fabric. At her waist was a silk-satin belt embellished with glass crystals and beads. She carried a cream and white bouquet of hydrangeas, freesia and tulips.

Maid of honor was Clare Zegarelli of Philadelphia. Bridesmaids were Caroline Bright, also of Philadelphia; Mary Ruth Kauffman of Little Rock, sister of the groom; and Kate Overholt of Salt Lake City, cousin of the bride. Ella Tull, sister of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid. They wore navy chiffon gowns and carried smaller versions of the bridal bouquet.

Best man was Jacob Kauffman of Little Rock, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Adam Baldwin of Little Rock; Luke Frauenthal of Hartford, Conn.; Chance McDermott of Harrisonburg, Va.; and Andrew Wylie

A reception in the arts center's atrium followed the ceremony. Round guest tables held trios of white birch cubes in various heights holding white flowers. Rectangular tables were centered with glass cylinders filled with curly willow branches, white hydrangeas and dusty miller. Music was by Funkytown.

The bride has a bachelor's degree in political science from Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y. She is a political consultant. The groom has a bachelor's degree in history from Hendrix College in Conway and a juris doctorate from the University of Illinois. He is a lawyer for Disability Rights Arkansas.

The couple will make their home in Little Rock after a wedding trip to Costa Rica.
